Frequently Asked Questions

WHAT IS PHYSIS?

Physis is an astrological typeface designed with the contemporary astrologer in mind. It has a wide selection of symbols and glyphs from various traditions of astrology, including signs for signs, planets, asteroids, Uranian points, angles, quadruplicities/modalities, and more.

HOW DO I USE IT?

Physis files (.otf, .ttf) can be installed directly onto your desktop and can be used in word processing software, design software, or any other program installed locally onto your computer that supports font files.

CAN I USE THIS ON GOOGLE DOCS OR MY IPHONE KEYBOARD?

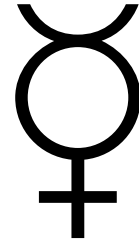

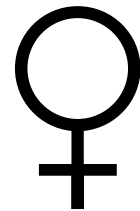

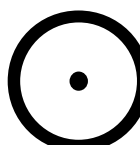

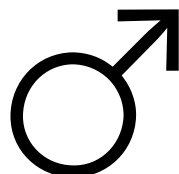

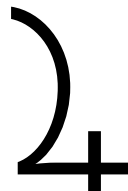

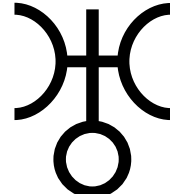

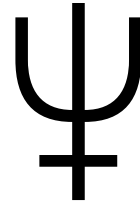

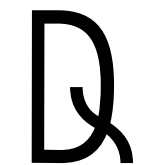

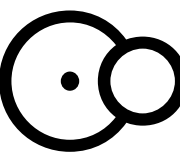

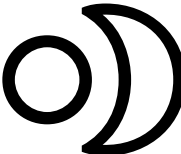

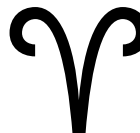

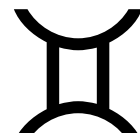

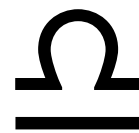

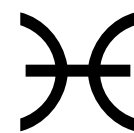

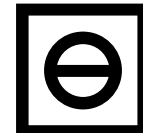

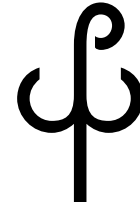

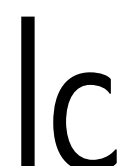

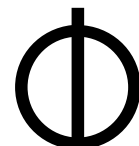

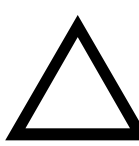

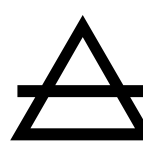

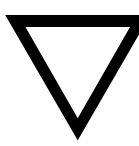

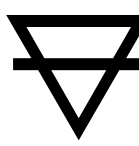

No. Physis cannot be used with programs that have their own default fonts, which includes online user interfaces and software like Google Docs and the iPhone keyboard. iPhone does have third-party apps available in the App Store that allows the user to install custom font software to be used in iOS apps for word-processing and design, but Physis cannot be “typed” and used in programs like iMessage at this time.

TELL ME ABOUT THE CHANGES!

Physis is updated in v2.0 with improved line rendering and design changes for many individual glyphs to meet modern typographic standards of profession typefaces. The sans-serif strokes are modified across the glyphs to create improved visual appearance and harmony as a typographic system.
